○ The hygiene

The hygiene habits today are really different from the ones of our grandparents.

○ In the past...

○ ...and now

○ No running water

At the beginning of twentieth century not all of our grandparents had the running water inside the house. Some of them had the running water in the kitchen but nobody had a bathroom inside the house.

○ Running water

Today we all have running water and we have one or two bathrooms in our house.

○ The bath

Children who had not the running water had to walk to a fountain and bring the water into the house.
Children used to take a bath once a month.

○ Shower and bath

We can take a shower once a day and sometimes we can take a bath in a bathtub or in a hydromassage

○ The bath in the tub

They used a tub filled with water and often all the family used the same water. They used soap but they didn't use shampoo, conditioner and bubble bath. They didn't use to wash their hands during the day

○ The bath

We have tons of types of shampoo, conditioner and bubble bath.
We use to wash our hands very often during the day.

○ Clothes

Children didn't change their clothes very often because they didn't have many and because it wasn't easy to wash clothes, in fact there weren't washing machines, detergents, running and hot water.

○ A cloth a day!

Today we can change clothes every day: our washing machine works every day and our wardrobe is full of clothes!

○ No toothbrush!

In the past children didn't brush their teeth: sometimes they didn't have any toothbrush or toothpaste.

○ Wash your teeth!

Today we brush our teeth three times a day: we have a lot of different kinds of toothbrushes and toothpaste.

○ Animals

In the countryside it was quite normal to sleep with the cat in the bed, but also the presence of mice was common because people used to store food into the house.

○ Animals vaccinated

Today we live with our dogs or cats but they are always vaccinated and we cannot conceive of living with a mouse in our bedroom
